SYNOPSIS

Power is flickering, communications are down, and the Common Ground Community Center is in disarray. A woman, Suna, has arrived in desperate need of help. She has been separated from her young son, Feza, who went missing from the emergency shelter where they were riding out the storm. Gabe goes out in search of the missing boy, while Mai comforts Suna as best she can. Meanwhile, Clive mobilizes the Youth Task Force members to get as many folks looking for Feza as possible. The Director's efforts pay off when the player assembles the necessary information to decide where to search for the boy and Feza is reunited with his mother.
