SYNOPSIS

Amid reports of increased petty theft in the neighborhood, the staff notices that a few small items are missing, including one of the laptops Gabe uses in the classroom. Pierre has become concerned about how much access Youth Task Force members should have to the office. Clive objects, feeling like the nurse is insulting his volunteers, and demands an apology. The fact is, the thefts are making everyone nervous, but nobody on the staff wants to deal with onerous safety measures. It's up to the Director to decide what to do.
