

WEB RESOURCES FOR THE CHELSEA BANK

The following websites have all kinds of interesting information and fun activities connected to what you are learning in The Chelsea Bank. To explore each site, first copy its web address into the address bar on your computer's browser. Then press the Return key on your key board, and you're at the site!

Dollars and Sense for Kids

This is a fun site that uses a friendly dragon named Dollar to guide you through sections on checking, savings, ATMs (not just how to use them, but how they work), bonds, and budgets. The site includes sections on the History of Money, Fun Facts (find out why we have piggy banks instead of kitty or doggy banks), Money Making Ideas, and Jokes and Riddles.

<http://www.banksite.com/kidscorner>

The United States Mint

The U.S. Mint, which is part of the Treasury Department, makes all the coins in this country. On the Mint's website for kids, you can explore the history of coins and find out how they're made. Ever wonder why certain images appear on certain coins? Find out here. If you're interested in coin-collecting, you'll get great information, including how to get started, by clicking on Collectors' Club. Interactive games offer a way to learn more about money. And you can download screen savers and watch cartoons—all about coins.

<http://www.usmint.gov/kids>

Change Maker

In this online interactive game, the object is to figure out how much change you'll get back for a given purchase. If your answer is correct, the amount of money is deposited in a bank. If your answer is incorrect, money is subtracted from the bank. You choose your own level of difficulty. You can also play the game using currencies from Canada, the United Kingdom, Mexico, and Australia.

<http://www.funbrain.com/cashreg>