

WEB RESOURCES FOR THE COMMUNITY CLINIC

The following websites have all kinds of interesting information and fun activities connected to what you are learning in The Community Clinic. To explore each site, first copy its web address into the address bar on your computer's browser. Then press the Return key on your key board, and you're at the site!

Voice of Youth

Through this United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF) site, you can find out about the lives of your student peers all over the world. It covers such topics as the global AIDS crisis and children's rights. There are discussion forums on a variety of topics related to UNICEF's work, as well as a section where you can learn how to make a difference.

<http://www.unicef.org/voy>

Careers in the Health Field

Kids.gov, the official kids' portal for the U.S. government, gives all kinds of information related to career fields. Once you're on the page, look for doctor, nurse, or pharmacist, and you'll find out what the job is like, how to get ready for it, what salaries are likely to be, how the career looks for the future, and much more.

http://www.kids.gov/6_8/6_8_careers.shtml

Kids Health

Want the run-down on just about any illness? Want to do an experiment to find out how your ear drums work or learn how to make a strawberry smoothy? If you have questions related to your health or the health of your family or friends, there's a good chance you'll find answers on this site created for kids your age.

<http://kidshealth.org/kid>

BAM!

BAM! stands for Body And Mind. It's a site created for kids by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. It's devoted to your life in and out of school, and what you can do to make it better: how to make better decisions, how to deal with stress, peer pressure, bullying, and other issues that might concern you.

http://www.bam.gov/sub_yourlife/index.html