

WEB RESOURCES FOR WEST END LAW

The following websites have all kinds of interesting information and fun activities connected to what you are learning in West End Law. To explore each site, first copy its web address into the address bar on your computer's browser. Then press the Return key on your key board, and you're at the site!

Law For Kids

"Law For Kids" offers interactive games, cartoon strips, first-person stories, and real teens' questions and responses to a wide range of legal and social problems. The games are challenging and fun, the stories and the Q & A are serious and useful. You can also take an audio-guided virtual tour of a juvenile detention center. There are excellent links to other helpful law resources.

<http://www.lawforkids.org>

Students' Rights

If you're interested in learning more about your civil liberties and how to protect the freedoms guaranteed by the Bill of Rights, you'll want to go to this site, developed by the American Civil Liberties Union. Under "In This Section" on the right, topics include discrimination, drug testing, privacy, and religion. There are links to publications, legal and legislative documents, and other resources on legal topics of special interest to teens.

<http://www.aclu.org/studentsrights/index.html>

Want to Be a Lawyer?

Kids.gov, the official kids' portal for the U.S. government, gives all kinds of information related to career fields. This one is all about becoming a lawyer. You'll find out what the field is like, how to get ready for it, what salaries are likely to be, how the field of law looks for the future, and much more.

<http://www.bls.gov/k12/law02.htm>